Seniors

- 4 Senior autobiographies highlight activities and memorable moments.
- 30 Days together.

Faculty & Staff

The task of student and teacher alike is to assemble the pieces of knowledge in time to produce a composite concept that is tangible and valued.

- 36 On and behind the scenes.

Cover

Staff Design executed by Mrs. Dunbar.

The 1996 Corric is launched as Editors brainstorm with Jostens' representative, Mr. Bob Murphy. Editors and staff worked under the guidance of advisers Sr. Alice Marie Lyon, Sr. Emma Jean Middendorf, and Mr. Jason Potrykus (Ad Section). Production was via desktop publishing using PageMaker 4.0 and 5.0 on MAC SE computers.

"Things don't change, we do." -Thoreau I have been here such a long time, yet it seems so short. The best years have been the last four. From these I have the best memories: the times spent with the Cross Country Team and Mr. S, study Hall with Mel and the Hoop team, winning the BANNER in Track, and the many afternoons spent with THE ZOO. This is ended with the many thanks I owe to all, especially my parents, to whom I owe a great many thanks. Goodbye and God bless to all.

Ang, Bocc... To all my friends, thanks for everything. I never could have done it without you. Maiz, Lauren, Amy, and Chaf-good luck, thanks for all the support, I love you all. To the Committee, Drew, Eben, Eddie, Matt, Fran, and Paul-you have been my friends through everything. Thanks for the parties, the endless nights, the roadtrips, Lollapalooza '95, for always being smarter, and for everything I can't fit here. Eben and Fran, thanks for the Italian connection. Fran, thanks for the laughs, the Ranch, the basement, soccer, and for being there. Eben, thanks for being my best friend. Jenn I can't thank you enough for all that you've given me. You taught me the best thing to be, is to be myself. Thanks for all the fun, the laughter, and for the friendship. Never give up on your dreams, you can do anything. Mr. Slavin and Kathy thanks for giving me a chance. The A-Team, Tony, Nonni, Mom & Dad, you guys have been behind me through it all. Mom & Dad, you have given me more than I ever could have hoped for. I love you. "I have promises to keep and many miles to go before I sleep." -Robert Frost.

Life is not a given. It is the one thing that we can wake up and be thankful for every morning. We can make our day what we choose and have control over our lives. Life may not be here tomorrow morning, today is the day to spread love and to live abundantly. To smile, to feel, to be. To do with our whole selves. The sky is so inviting. I could swim in the overflowing yolk of the sun, and dry off as I fall asleep in the luscious clouds. For now the grass will do though. It is equally as inviting and amazingly tangible for its beauty. In fact most things are. . . if you look close enough. Thank you all for your friendship and support. Especially to all my Sandwich pals, G's girls & Ang, Amy, Nicole, Amanda, Skeeps, the Courtneys, Meghann, Kyle, and Sarah. Dad: we have worked, we have played, we have laughed, we have cried - together. You have taught me, molded me, and taken a large role in the creation of this being which I am. I love you and I will never be without you. Thank you. Mom: hand in hand we hold the past but move on together. I am so grateful that I have you. I love you.

Knowing that my high school years have come to a close, I feel mixed emotions; some sad, some excited, some scared. Most of all I feel a great sense of satisfaction, in knowing that my time has been well spent. I wish ALL of my classmates the hope that you will each find your own individual happiness in life, whatever it may be. As words of wisdom to leave you with, all I can say is: stand firm in all that you believe in regardless of any opposition, always love and be true to yourself, and most of all, make a change because God knows this world could use a few! Life, a fleeting thing. Birth, development, nurturing. Trials, responsibilities, independence. Nursery school, elementary school, junior high, high school. Sometimes college, always work. Shortening years of work and relaxation, pleasure and pain, gain and loss, death, and then ... ? No one knows, though many care. We are about to close another chapter in our lives, but there are several more to come. We write the book, but others provide much of the material. So, I thank you all, faculty and students, for helping to make this chapter of my life an interesting one, and I hope I've done the same for all of you. Though we do have several more chapters to write for ourselves, they are numbered, so I urge you all to make the remaining ones as enjoyable and productive as possible. I wish you all success and happiness, both in this life and beyond!

Seventeen years of my life have already passed me by. As I now look back at it, my life has passed so quickly that most of it is just a blur. I have been so lucky to find the greatest friends that anyone could ever ask for. We have shared hours upon hours of laughter and tears. I would thank you for the memories, but I know there are still countless more to come. To my sister Hilary, thank you for being my partner in crime, my role model, my best friend. I will love you always. To my mom and dad, thank you for putting even the stars within my reach- I truly do not know where I would be today without you. One final thought: don't use time or words carelessly... neither can be retrieved.

To all my friends: I love you all bunches and thank you for the many memories I have to reflect on in the future. Lots of love and thank you's to Mum and Dad for the support, love, and generosity. We all have our whole futures ahead of us and the world is in our hands. Good luck to everyone in achieving their goals, dreams and aspirations in life and always believe in yourselves. "Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence.....Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grassYou are a child of the universe, no less than trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy." Desiderata

I have had so many good times here at Sacred Heart and if I had a good memory, there probably wouldn't be enough room to list them all. So if I leave out any important events or people, I'm sorry. Katherine, our times together were the greatest - Nantucket, mosh pits, summers at the beach, July 16, dirtbike rides- there, s just too much to list. Ned, skiing speeding tickets, crazy bike and car rides, art class, Green day, mud sliding at Lollapalooza, all nighters. Shep, outrunning Katherine and rollerblading. Personally, I don't expect anyone other than a senior to read this so let me just say, "It's over." Now we are all off to college, leaving friends, family and simplicity behind. I hope you all enjoyed not having to live away from home, not having to work and scrimp and save for all your money, knowing your lifelong friends and parents are close if you have an accident. I know you're all looking forward to the freedom and that's good. But, to anyone not a senior who reads this, treasure these years, there are only four of them.

Senior class

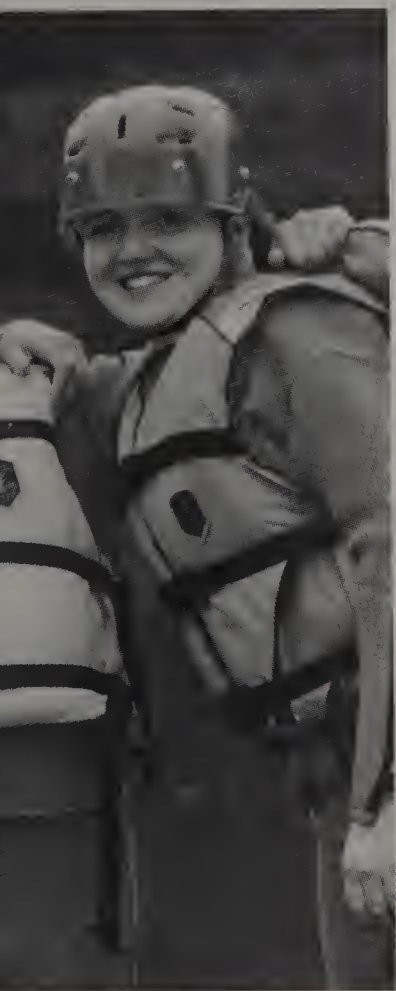

Once again, the Class of 1996 has done things the untraditional way. Rather than embarking on the ever-so-famous whale watch, the senior class officers opted to take the class to Charlemont, MA to brave the rapids of the raging Deerfield River.

Upon arrival to Charlemont, excitement was high and the scene was hilarious. The seniors dressed up in full rafting gear of wet suits, life jackets, and helmets. With paddles in hand they boarded a crowded bus for a half an hour ride to the start of the rapids.

Students enjoyed an exciting day of rafting in class II and class III whitewater. After conquering "The Lemon Squeezer," and the class III "Zoar Gap," a riverside lunch was provided by Crab Apple Whitewater.

Highlighting the day were the enormous water fights which took place during the twelve mile trek down the promontory. The bright foliage was also a sight to see as it surrounded the class every stroke of the way.

One of the things that changes most with living is one's personal relationships, especially if one must move to different places, as so many Americans do. One's immediate family relations will remain intact, but one's links with one's friends are in danger of being broken. And yet, even if there is no problem of distance involved, one must make a continuing effort to keep personal relationships warm and close, in the family as well as among friends. Humans relationships, like life itself, can never remain static. They grow or they diminish. But, in either case, they change. Our emotional interest, our intellectual pursuits, our personal preoccupations, all change. So do those of our friends. So the relationship that binds us together must change too; it must be flexible enough to meet the alterations of person and circumstance.

The Solar system reminds us that our concerns must be global-even universal. 99:40 is from the book Apollo XIII. It is the computer's query that asks the human to consider the task that it is about to be executed. This task will then commence and cannot be recalled. It is a poignant reminder that in the link between technology and human endeavors, man must be in control of all his actions.

The Proceed Button represents our control of technology and the fact that we must look to the future and continue forward in control of our actions.

STUDENT COUNCIL '95 -'96

The Student Council is a positive force in the Sacred Heart School Community. They show this force with the community service and the student activities they provide.

As role models the Student Council has been able to achieve an array of goals, these include raising money for Scholarships and organizing activities, such as home coming and field day. Though they are happy to provide service to students, they also provide service to the community. Two examples of this service are the Christmas toy drive and the Thanksgiving food drive.

Seniors Vincent Lifrieri, Elizabeth Hickey, Charlene Slowey, and Christina Chaves raise their right hand as they are sworn into the National Honor Society.

The National Honor Society is an nation-wide organization whose members are selected on their qualities of leadership, service, character, and scholarship. At the end of September, juniors and seniors meeting these requirements are invited to become new members. The induction is organized and performed by the four officers, who were chosen the year before.

The most important activity of the National Honor Society is the tutoring of students by NHS members. The National Honor Society also sponsors the annual semi-formal Snowball Dance in December, which is its most important fundraising event. With the proceeds from this dance, the National Honor Society presents four $500 scholarships to seniors and two scholarships to juniors. Also, to give thanks for the support provided by teachers, the National Honor Society hosts an "Appreciation Tea" for the faculty and staff in March.

GREAN

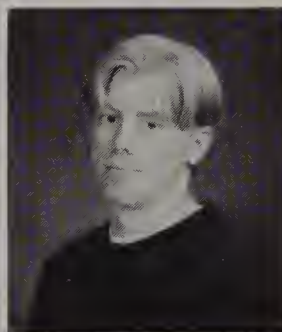

With the supportive guidance of moderator Sr. Ida Mary, GREAN members kept alive the traditions of past years. The annual "Coastsweep" effort, brought dedicated GREAN members along with concerned community residents to clean up Plymouth's Long Beach. The sixth annual clean-up effort ended with 400 pounds of trash removed, and a message of the need for community involvement and concern was exemplified.

GREAN members keep busy reviving the paper recycling activity. An average of 40 kg/week of school consumed paper are gathered and recycled.

At the Holly Berry Fair GREAN members continued to spread their environmentally concerned message. They sold hand-made bird feeders, of pinecones, peanut butter and birdseed.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International members write letters to world leaders in order to stop human rights abuses. Thousands of people are imprisoned simply because of their beliefs. Prisoners are held without charge or trial, and are sometimes tortured and deprived of medical treatment. Some men, women and children are said to have "disappeared".

Members respond to weekly Urgent Action cases. The letters to government officials aim to free prisoners of conscience, ensure fair and prompt trials, and abolish the death penalty, torture and cruel treatment of prisoners.

Direct contact with the prisoners themselves is made twice annually by a Holiday Card Action project at Christmas time and by a summer postcard project.

Sacred Heart's chapter of Students Against Drunk Drivers seeks to raise awareness of the dangers of drunk driving or riding with someone who is under the influence of alcohol or other substances. The club's activities include displaying posters, selling non-alcoholic alternative drinks at school dances and Hollyberry Fair, and issuing holiday cards and ribbons to all students, faculty, and staff. Monthly meetings include watching videos, and organizing events. In April, in honor of Alcohol Awareness Month, SADD worked with School Nurse Mrs. Mary Blasi and Athletic Director Mr. Robert Duquette to bring in an assembly speaker, and distributed materials from alcohol awareness organizations. SADD plans activities at prom time to raise awareness of alcohol issues.

Teens for Life

"Catholic means pro-life unconditionally," these words spoken by Cardinal Bernard Law at the March for Life Mass celebrated on Sunday evening, January 21, 1996 at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, DC. MCFL Cape Cod Chapter offered the Teens for Life bus transportation to Washington, DC. Senior Mark Balzarini represented SHHS.

The SHHS Teens for Life joined thousands of Massachusetts citizens in Boston October 1, 1995 for the Respect Life Walk to Aid Mothers and Children. Fifty three pro-life organizations in Massachusetts benefit from the sponsorship money. St. Joseph parish supports the MCFL Old Colony Chapter of Kingston-Plymouth with bus transportation to and from Boston.

H.U.G.S.

Helping the Unfortunate by Giving Service

Helping the Unfortunate by Giving Service (H.U.G.S.) is a school-based community service group. Co-founders Nicole Silvestri and Kristen Dalbec started this organization in February, 1994. These seniors, then sophomores, decided to begin the group in order to try to involve more Sacred Heart students in the community. The group's goal is to give any needed assistance to the Pilgrim's Hope Homeless Shelter in Kingston. Examples of the volunteer work performed at the shelter include sorting clothes, stacking food, working with children in the after-school development program, and organizing food drives.

There has been an overwhelming response from high school students who have displayed interest in this great cause. As of the beginning of the 1995-96 school year, over 250 hours of time were donated by the members of H.U.G.S.

The group moderator is Sister Dolores, who is also the head of Peer Ministry. Having a lot of experience with community service, she has been a great help in organizing H.U.G.S. The homeless shelter is very appreciative for all the time and effort that the members of H.U.G.S. have donated.

Peer Ministry and

Peer Ministry is students helping students achieve a good self-image, using their talents and abilities to help others, and learning to use the most effective listening - responding - problem solving skills. Peer Ministry focuses on students helping each other grow by learning to recognize differences, respond to problems, encourage one another to work through hard times, and set good Christian goals. It is a wonderful opportunity to reach out to others, especially through assuming the relationship of a big brother/big sister to incoming freshmen students.

A Peer Minister must be a person of high moral character who is able to draw on his/her Christian values. A Peer Minister also needs to use his/her high spirits and energies for making good things happen.

Participation for the 41 Peer Ministers of the 1995/96 year meant a commitment of their time and talent and a dedication to working closely with the Peer Ministry Director, Sr. Dolores. They met regularly and faithfully to receive further instruction as well as to reflect on the meaning of their involvement in the program. Each Peer Minister was a junior or senior selected by the faculty and Sr. Dolores because of their eagerness to "try to make a difference," through their caring, concern, and willingness to share.

The 1995 Ministry workshop held over the summer was attended by 35 enthusiastic students, where development of communication skills was stressed as the day's theme. A great time was had by all, and they learned how to best help their fellow classmates. The same group was joined by a few other new-comers on the bewildered freshmen's first day of school. They teamed up and met with groups of ninth grade students to give needed advice and help make the kids feel more comfortable. The day was a success, as well as a lot of fun.

The Peer Ministers gathered and delivered Christmas dinners to families in need, and daily act as friendly faces saying hello in the halls. The program has narrowed the gap between students, and has created new friendships. Peer Ministry truly embodies the ideals of Sacred Heart, and provides an atmosphere in which students can prosper academically, socially, and morally.

The Community Service program grows from Sacred Heart's belief that the lasting concern for community originates in a desire to help others, to meet their needs, and to contribute something of value to society. Areas of service include the Sacred Heart Pre-Primary School and the Pilgrim Hope Shelter for the Homeless. Students may also serve in their local Church or town areas. Students involved in the program can reflect upon their experiences and gain knowledge of the inequalities in society so that they may channel their abilities and energies toward making things better for those in need. The program is sponsored by the Student Advisory Center and the Religion Department. Special thanks to Sister Dolores and Sister Mary Victor for all their time, hard work, love, and inspiration.

Skiing New England

Record breaking snows

A new ski club

The Sacred Heart Parents Association, under the leadership of Mrs. Linda DiBona, initiated a high school ski club. Four trips took students to New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine from December to March.

The rides up were fairly quietly as students caught a couple of winks to make up for the early 5:00 am start, or viewed the Star Wars Trilogy. Once at the slopes skiers made the most of day with an average of twelve runs. Participants voiced a hearty thank you to the parents organization for sponsoring the trips and look forward to next year. There were more than just a couple trips into the lodge for food and warmth. A good time was had by all.

Key Club is Sacred Heart's service organization, under the leadership of Geoff Anstatt (President), Kevin Cooper (Vice President), Doug Amorello (Treasurer), and Kevin Thorley (Secretary), whose members are actively involved in promoting the activities of the high school. The Club is responsible for conducting student tours of the school to prospective students and parents. These tours provide insights into student life and activities at Sacred Heart and, as such, they provide an invaluable service to prospective students and their families when they consider admission to Sacred Heart High School.

Throughout the course of the year, Key Club members are responsible for ushering at school assemblies and participating in special Liturgies such as the Mass of the Remembrance. The members also support scholarship programs by organizing a "bouquet of flowers" program which celebrates the spirit of Valentine's Day at the school.

The Club is associated with the local chapter of the Kiwanis Club. Fostering a sense of community service, the Club will organize a bike safety program this Spring for the benefit of elementary age children who live in the area.

"Germany '96" was a great success. Overcoming the disappointment of not being able to visit for the usual four weeks in the summer, nine students and Sister Emma Jean Middendorf journeyed to 'Deutschland' for the duration of February Vacation, February 15-24. The students included freshmen Jonah Mikutowitz, Julie Benson, Chris Guite, and Will Manning; sophomores John Donahoe and Marty Kueblbeck; junior Kristen Symes; and seniors Brenna Cussen and Rosa-Mai Kueblbeck.

The group travelled to famous sites such as Checkpoint Charlie, the Brandenburg Gate, the Rhine River, and Bach's Church, as well as many other cultural areas. They met many people from all over the world at the youth hostels at which they lodged, and experienced life from various viewpoints, getting the wonderful opportunity to practice their languages. All would have to say that their 'vacation,' while very busy as opposed to relaxing, was worth every penny, and will be a European experience they will never forget.

On February 18, 1995 twelve students travelled to Paris, France for a six day trip where they experienced the culture of France first-hand and had an opportunity to use their language skills. The trip included visiting such renowned sights as the Louvre, Versailles, and the Eiffel Tower. Besides seeing these famous landmarks, the students enjoyed shopping and tasting the variety of the French cuisine. This travel opportunity provided the students with unforgettable experiences and gave them the opportunity to meet many interesting people, see new sights, and experience a real taste of French culture.

All smiles...Leslie Hall, Sarahjane Sacchetti, Cara Cappellini, Allison Parker, Karen McDonald, and Emmy Murray dance the night away.

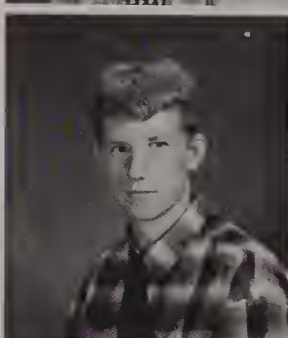

On Friday, December 8th, the Kingsbury Club was graced with the well dressed student body for a night of dancing and free soda. From 8-11 Sacred Heart's finest boogied down to the tunes of disk jockey Butch Machado.

The students in attendance took advantage of the opportunity to dress up and have fun with their friends. Seniors got to reminisce about semis past, and have one last dance with that someone special. "I got to dance with Amy King!" said a blushing Matt Damiano, "I've been waiting for that since freshman year."

The traditional senior-freshman ice cream party was once again a highlight of the year. Every year the senior class sponsors this event. This year's party took place in the senior park. It was a great opportunity for the seniors to welcome in the freshman and make them feel part of the Sacred Heart family. This event is always considered a landmark for both seniors and freshman; the freshmen's journey in high school has just begun and the seniors are just beginning a journey of their own.

The Sacred Heart High School Computer Club, founded last spring by Seniors Eduardo Calapiz, Joshua Day, and Matthew Damiano, and advised by Mr. Potrykus, was active for its first full year. The purpose of the club is to increase computer knowledge through fun activities.

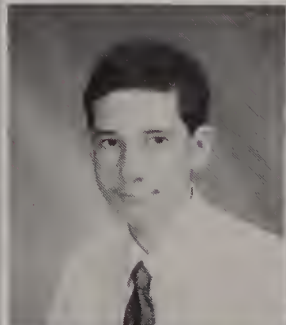

Recently, the group has set up an Internet account at a local service provider. Pending the decision of an Internet Policy Committee, it will be available to students and faculty. This will give Sacred Heart access to a wealth of information. Students will be able to look at colleges, as well as access libraries of information through the World Wide Web. The internet's USENET newsgroups also will offer much information to the school—students will be able to post and read messages on all academic as well as recreational topics. The club will also be able to keep contact with alumni and other correspondents through e-mail. In addition to the Internet, the Computer Club also offers a forum for students to share their own software, both shareware and their own original programs. Members of the club have also spent time creating charts for the school newspaper, The Heart Beat.

The club will continue to work as a team creating World Wide Web pages using code known as HTML, or Hyper-Text Markup-Language. Students thus be able to learn the code and also use their artistic creativity.

HEART BEAT

School Publications experience changes

■ Yearbook and newspaper adapt to the new age of the computer

Although the pages of the Heart Beat and the Corric might look the same to its viewers, both have undergone dramatic changes as a result of technology.

What used to be performed with typewriters, scissors and rulers is now accomplished with "Toolboxes," "Pagemaker" and "Photoshop." Yes, the jargon of the computer world is now at the heart of school publications.

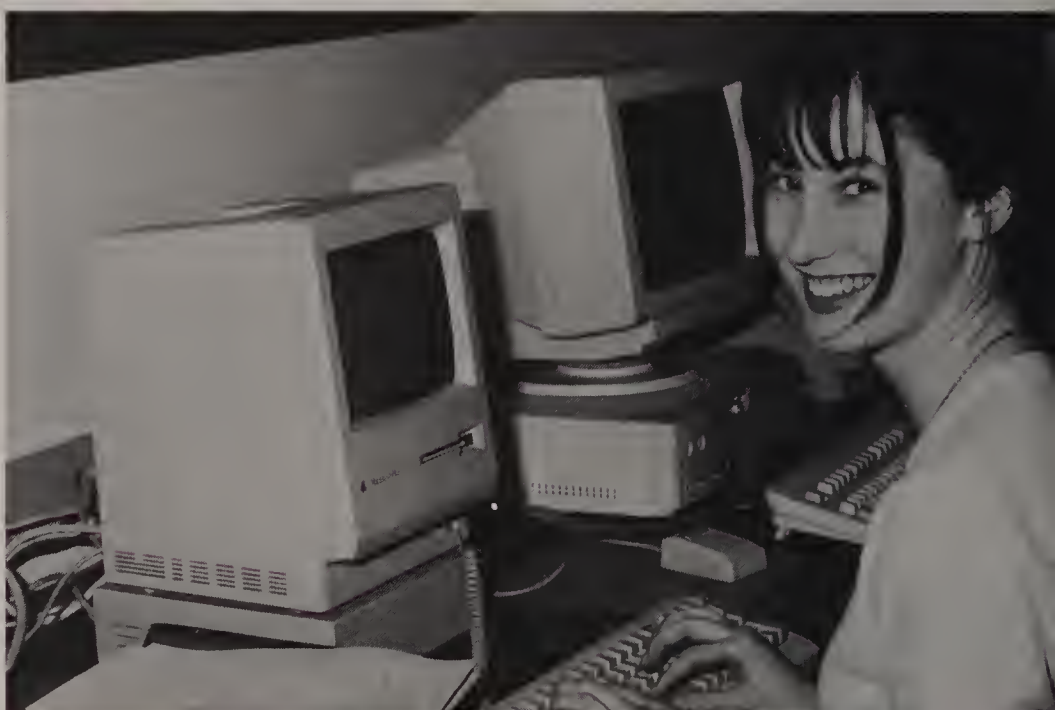

These changes allow publications to develop sophisticated graphics, text changes and design elements which would have been unthought of only a decade ago. In fact, now the most valuable skill in the publishing world is computer literacy.

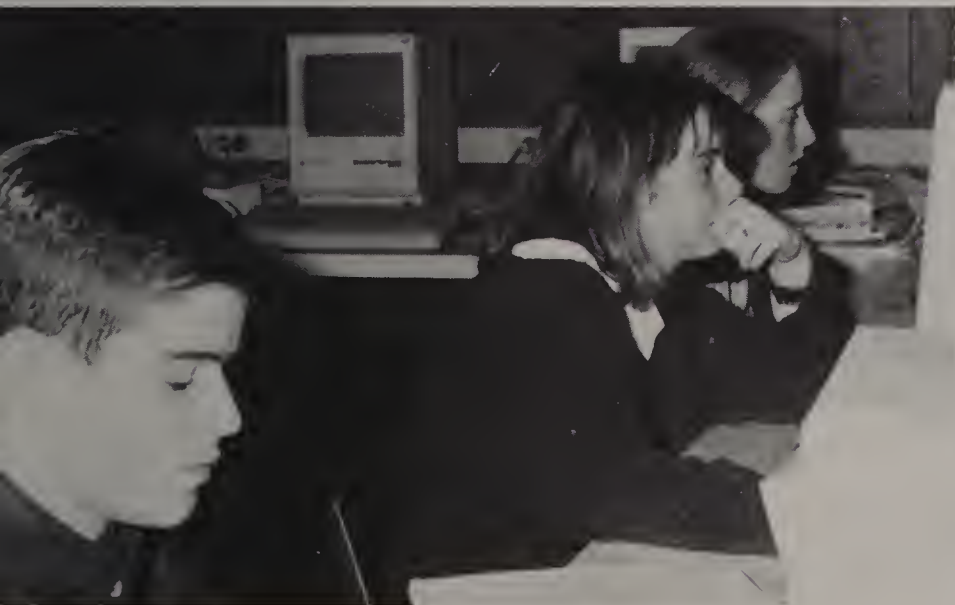

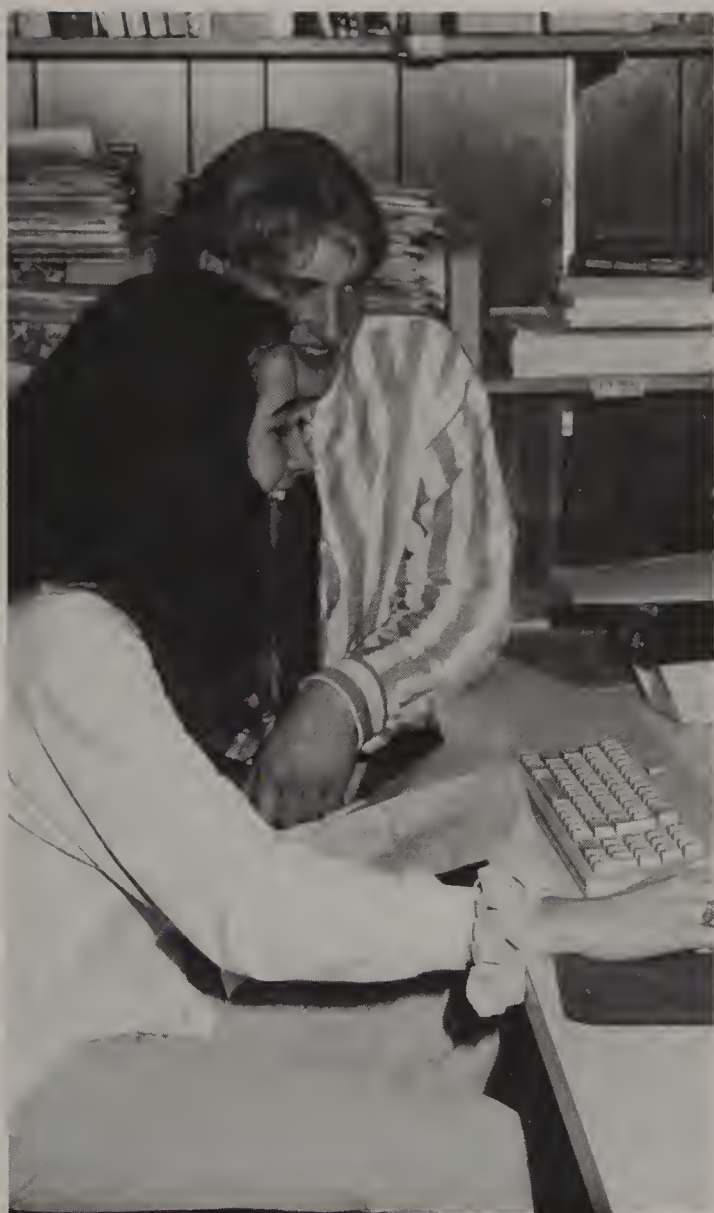

Nevertheless, it still takes hard work and creativity provided by individuals to turn icons into reality. Those dedicated students and advisers are ultimately responsible for the pages you see in the Corric and Heart Beat.

Seniors Emily Chaffee, Josh Day, Kristen Dalbec and Jeff Dawley provided the editorial leadership for advisers Sr. Alice Marie and Sr. Emma Jean. The group gave up its free periods and after school time to produce the beautiful pages before you.

Mr. Slavin also had a gifted supporting cast in shaping the Award winning student newspaper. Heading the editorial staff were seniors Jenn Cuddy and Angelo Boccalini. Other veteran editors included Matt Damiano, Maiz Hogan, Amy King, Phoebe Price and Caitlin Gavin.

Indeed, the Publishing Room and Computer Lab were busy places in 1995-96.

SACRED HEART HISTORY STUDENTS PUBLISH
"NOT-SO-ORDINARY AMERICANS"

Jamie Maiorano's grandfather Alfonso especially remembers September 2, 1945. Not only was it his 19th birthday, it was also the day that World War Two ended; Kevin Cooper's father Gerald recalls his two, war-time tours of Vietnam and the physical and emotional wounds he still carries from that experience; Elizabeth Hickey's aunt Tricia Forde remembers the music and rain at Woodstock in 1969; Julia Loran's mother Sylvia remembers risking jail to escape Communist Hungary in 1974.

These stories and 42 others make up a collection of interviews called, "Not-So-Ordinary Americans," published by grade 11 U.S. History students at Sacred Heart High School, Kingston. For this book, students have interviewed grandparents, parents, other family members and friends about historical events and experiences that touched their lives. The result is a collection of personal historical accounts spanning more than half a century from Prohibition to the San Francisco earthquake of 1989.

"The idea for the project was to have students see history in personal terms through the eyes of people they know, rather than through a dry, impersonal textbook account of events that sometimes seem so distant in time and place," said the students U.S. History teacher, Walter Lucier. "The student project goes beyond just facts, statistics, and dates and shows the student their own connections to history."

The next phase of the project is already a reality as Mr. Lucier has gone on-line with his oral history - New England High Schools Oral History Internet Archive.

On Monday, August 28, 1995, the Freshmen class of the year 1999, began its journey through Sacred Heart High School. The halls quickly filled with excited students renewing acquaintances with old friends and anxiously checking the homeroom lists posted outside of rooms 205, 209, 211, and 215. The morning was spent in the traditional manner. A veritable cornucopia of forms and schedules were filled out. Meetings were held to introduce the Class of '99 to representatives of the various clubs and organizations of SHHS, as well as the school administrators, faculty advisors and peer ministers.

After a refreshing lunch with their peer ministers, (thanks to Sister Dolores for all her help). The Freshmen enjoyed some ice breakers designed to let the newcomers to Sacred Heart (approximately one third of the class) mingle with the veterans from SHJHS. The favorite activity once again this year was the building of "Tower of Straws". Broken into random groups, the students had twenty minutes to erect the tallest tower, supported only by tape attached to the SAC floor. In order to be declared the winner, one member selected randomly from the group had to announce the first name of each teammate. The winning tower measured 99 and 3/4 inches.

"This activity works well on several levels," said Freshman Moderator Mr. Duchaney. The kids get to know each other on opening day, which is really important to the newcomers.

 but live in a world created by you a world of animals, mountains, seas and prairies, a world of participants in your creative love.

Let us realize that we are intimately related to the

 May this communal consciousness with the planet lead us to find the sacred at the centre of the world.

The Student Council helps out many different organizations in a variety of ways. Members sell nachos periodically to raise money for scholarship funds. Admission to the Blanket Dance was a blanket for a person at the Pine Street Inn. At Thanksgiving the student council organized a food drive in which each homeroom representative decorated a box. The members of the class contributed cans of food. The food collected benefited the people at Pine Street Inn.

Members also collected and wrapped cosmetics for Rosie's Place, and shirts for the Sisters of Divine Providence mission in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. Retired Sisters knitted hats and mittens which were wrapped for the homeless and poor people on the South Shore and Cape Cod.

International Geography Fair

Many of the seventh grade students took part in this year's annual International Geography Fair. The students worked very hard on posters and recipes from the country of their choice. Fellow 7th and 8th grade students came to view the bright array of displays in the old gym. They tasted exotic foods from Italy, Greece, Switzerland, Israel, Germany, France, Spain, Mexico and many other countries. They also found out a lot from colorful posters. There were also some traditional costumes and games which greatly contributed to the seventh graders presentations.

Some students chose to select the country where their ancestors came from, while others chose a country at random that they would like to learn more about. Either way, all of the presentations were interesting.

The students did a marvelous job in giving a vivid description of their international topic. This year's International Geography Fair was informative as well as entertaining and was enjoyed by all concerned. Great job, students!

Junior High Forensics Team

The Junior High Speech Team has sponsored the Youth Speaks Tournament for over 25 years. The tournament was created by Sister Paul Marie and has enjoyed the enthusiastic participation from many schools and hundreds of students. The tradition continues with help from Sr. Paul Marie, Sr. John Francis and the rest of the staff.

Many students on the Junior High Team remain involved throughout their high school and college years. Several students have continued into politics, law, business and professional coaching. The '95-'96 team was very successful and captured many trophies.

Workshop Players

Role of Workshop Players:

The "Workshop Players" was created to introduce Junior High students to the theatre arts. The program's focus is to access and accent the "process of doing a play", versus the "pressure of performance."

"Spontaneity" is encouraged in an attempt to open the students' minds in a positive and constructive manner. The focus is placed on what the students does well rather than what they don't do well.

recipient and graduation speaker. The Ketteler Medal recognizes the twenty plus years that James McLaughlin has spent engaged in the work of Catholic Relief Services in various parts of Africa and currently as a Director in central India. Mr. McLaughlin challenged the graduates by saying, "As we in America focus on our domestic problems, we cannot ignore the rest of the world. The strength of the nation depends on the rectitude of its people. Do whatever you can to help those less fortunate than you."

Maureen,
Congratulations on your graduation.
We are all proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, John, Lisa, Kathy, Wayne,
Patricia, Joe, and of course Sarah,
Colleen, Matthew.

Congratulations Greg!

You've always been a son full of laughter and smiles, with a quick wit and sense of humor, a willingness to help and best friend to your sister.

Remember,
wherever you go,
that God will always walk beside you and we will always love
you.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Kristen & Patches

Brenna,
May the road rise up to meet you.
May the wind be always at your back.
May the sun shine warm upon your face.
May the rains fall softly on your fields . . .
May God always hold you in the palm of His hand.
